White Eagle, Niles

As a small business woman, author, mother, grandmother, and Member of Congress, Marsha Blackburn has dedicated her service to making America a more free and more prosperous place to live.

Senator Blackburn began her elected service career in 1998 as a Tennessee State Senator. While serving in the Tennessee Senate, Blackburn led a statewide grassroots campaign to defeat a proposed state income tax and earned the reputation as a champion of anti-tax and government accountability issues.

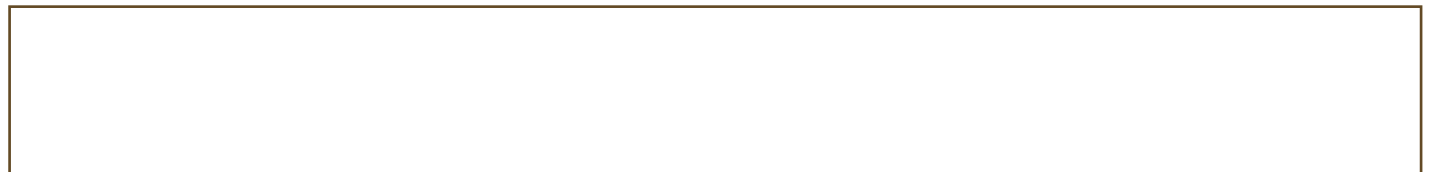

Tennesseans sent her to the U.S. House of Representatives in 2002 to represent the 7th Congressional District, where she continued the fight for accountable government and led the investigation into Planned Parenthood.

In 2018, Tennesseans voted overwhelmingly to send her to the United States Senate. She is the state's first female Senator.
